I could not believe I did not have the poison control number in my phone! I have 2 children, but only had the Animal Poison Control number saved! Thank you for the reminder to store it! I would also typically call 911, or rush to the ER if I had concerns for my children, but knowing that I could have an answer in under 5 minutes is comforting.

The training was great! The presenters were engaging, and the slides/graphics, and data were very educational.

it was really quick, and the time flew by extremely fast. Outside of CPR/First Aid I have never had any training or conversations about poison control. I obviously knew about the poison control number. But did not know it was a free service that could be used in both an emergency and non-emergency situation and found that information to be very helpful.

Instructor was knowledgeable and well versed in the subject. Excellent at answering specific questions not in the base of instructions.

Great instructor. Kept me focused and engaged even on Zoom! Clearly knowledgeable and experienced and knows how to teach to a diverse audience. Great use of interactive portions and inviting stories from group while staying on schedule. I had some panic at beginning of test as I thought some questions were definitely not emphasized and I had been very diligent in writing flash cards to use later. Overall I highly recommend this class to my CERFP colleagues. Thank you!

Excellent instructor. speaks well and in a good speed. very knowledgeable.

Knowledgeable. Able to breakdown info when students had questions regarding content.

Great instructor- able to communicate the take-home points naturally in an almost conversational manner. Explains course material (i.e., teaches) at each step so that it is easily understandable.

Amazing instructor! Profoundly knowledgeable and explained concepts in multiple ways to ensure understanding. Great great instructor Excellent knowledge base for me. Retaking the course allowed me to retain the information better this time.

Very knowledgeable and professional. Great course

Some of the meds & cellular break down was a little intense for firefighters, but info was brought around that allowed me to bring it together

Did a good job. Felt sorry for him that he had to talk so much.

"see above"

Thanks for teaching a portion. Your pacing was spot on and I felt you explained complex chemical reactions clearly. Thanks.

goes too fast, needs to slow down which she did on her second chapter.

Slow down.

Has good handle on material. Maybe needs to relate it to the student at the learner level.

Very knowledgeable, but lectured way too fast. It was difficult to digest concepts, and no time to jot down notes.

Enjoyed the lecture.

Very knowledgeable and professional. Great course

Appreciated the poems.

Q2.5 - Enter any comments you may have regarding Sophia Sheikh, M.D., FACEP, ACMT.

Also a great instructor, pinch fast with presenting the material for EMT's if this is a new subject because basic education of pharm it can be hard to get the core concept. Again very great instructor, only critique.

Dr Sheikh was unable to speak and Dr Schauben taught in her place. I am sure that she is knowledgeable but gave her a 1 as it did not have a N/A or blank was not an option.

Was not present at this course

She did not teach at this class. I had to pick a number in above questions as it is mandatory. may want to add N/A as a choice in case an instructor drops out last minutes as it was the situation with her.

Didn't show.

I can speed-read slides on my own. Rather than reading slides to the class, need to relate the material to the learner.

Did not attend.

Q5.1 - As a result of what I learned from my participation in this activity, I intend to make the following practice/performance changes that I believe will result in more positive patient outcomes:

Yes. Need more study time. Book never arrived at my house prior to course

Recognize and understand toxidromes.

Yes, one thing that would assist in this is technical refrence cards with treatment of specific substances and reduce memorialization.

Quick knowledge based assessments and education.

I'm going to review the Hazmat agents with my CERFP team at our upcoming ExEval (August 13-18) became more knowledgeable and more confident with hazmat incident.

Change in how I obtain history and manage differential diagnosis of HAZMAT casualties.

Provider Course Evaluation (Jacksonville, FL Aug 2023)

I will add calcium carbonate and KY jelly to our decontamination kits on both JFRD hazmat units for potential HF liquid exposures. Also after hearing the term "Morgan lens" so many times, I looked it up and plan to ask our Chief of Rescue if this would be something the Hazmat Team Rescues (ambulances) could carry due to the increased potential of ocular exposure.

Improve of my patient interaction with CBRN and WMD.

Reinforce the knowledge that I have in treating patients with these type of exposures

Have a more thorough understanding of decon and antidotal therapies.

Q5.2 - Please share any other comments or recommendations including improvements for the current activity or topics for future educational events:

This course is very knowledge based, I think adding a day of hands of treatment(Of course not online) would not only improve the retention of base knowledge but also solidify the process of applying assessment, s/s recognition, treatment protocol, severity of exposure. Overall this is a great course.

Great class and the instructors were very knowledgeable.

I thought the glossary of the book should add some of the acronyms (CANA, ATNAA, etc). We all don't do this every day. I really enjoy the case discussions and real live stories. More of those would be great to solidify knowledge in a practical way. Also, time to replace the outdated (male only) videos. There are many women in these fields and they are underrepresented in the outdated videos. A more diverse and inclusive course could include these updated videos. Thank you.

One of the best online courses i have taken. clear objective. important areas highlighted. great online option with zoom which avoided several days of travel. Nicole Nichols was very on top of everything and responded quickly via email. excellent coordinator.

Address use of rebreather devices with Level A. Increase in time in suit with increased risk of heat casualty and caustic slurry in mouth piece should water get into CO2 scrubber.

Something to consider Chapter 30 Radiation Emergencies pg 429, the graph suggests adequate shielding for Beta particles is aluminum foil, though technically correct for a beta source, if the responder cannot confirm that it is a Beta and it ends up being a Alpha instead (which is possible in the prehospital chaos of a radiological incident), if they use aluminum foil to wrap or shield a pt who has been contaminated with Alpha particles it will generate neutron particles, alpha source + aluminum = neutron.

Provider Course Evaluation (Jacksonville, FL Aug 2023)

Although it was grueling for the instructor, I feel lucky that Dr. Schauben presented so much of the material for this class. I wasn't able to take the in-person course- I think that it would have been an even better learning experience.

Dispersing the information over a 3 day period, or longer days, it felt very rushed. But amazing material

None at this time.

No recommendations great course. Thank you.

I don't think the course focused on the different roles enough. There were times where the course was in the perspective of a first responder. And then at other times, it was so high level, it was clearly more for the physicians.

The slides were not as helpful as they could be. Specifically, I think there can be better visuals distinguishing nicotinic from muscarinic receptors and their symptoms. The way it is visually presented, the slides highlight the similarities rather than their differences between the 2 receptors.

I would get input from toxicologists who have managed more HF and OP exposures. For example, intra-arterial calcium is never actually used any more, it's just mentioned in textbooks but is not practical or life saving. Also, the idea that you would waste time applying topical calcium to a HF burn with 50% concentration is absurd. There seemed to be an inordinate amount of emphasis on pralidoxime in this course. Not sure if this is AHLS bias or instructor bias, but all the toxicologists I have worked with consider it to be an optional and lesser antidote than atropine.

Thank you for doing a great job teaching this course.

This was one of the most annoying courses I have ever taken, and that is saying a lot. The instructor droned on and on covering self explanatory content and was an incorrigible windbag saying the same thing over and over and over. This could have been done in a small fraction of the time.
